

MARTIN Bronze Guitar Bass Strings are wound on a special hexagon wire, instead of the usual round wire, that gives extra durability thru the grip of the covering wire on the corners of the hexagon core. This new feature keeps the bronze wire from slipping or working loose, which is the usual cause of deterioration in the tone of a string. It assures long tone life, as well as great tensile strength because the wire is made of special steel accurately drawn and carefully tempered. Only Martin Bronze strings are made with this hexagon wire core.
